

Proceedings to the Constitution of
The American Legion

In the first chapter of the Constitution of the American Legion, it is stated that the purpose of the organization is to "assist in the rehabilitation of the disabled and to provide a home for the aged and infirm." The organization is also committed to "the promotion of the welfare of the community and the advancement of the science of government."

Preamble to the Constitution

in God and Country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our participation in the Great Wars; to instill a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the influence of both the deists and the atheists; to make right the wrongs of right; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and honor to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to associate and assist our comrades by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.
